

Goss International announces first order for New M-600 Folia press

- Press with innovative sheeting technology to be installed by high-quality sheetfed printer in France
- Order follows impressive product demonstrations at drupa

July 21st, 2008 – Goss International has announced its first order for the new Goss M-600 Folia press launched at drupa 2008. The new highly productive press system will be installed in early 2009 at a large sheetfed print house in France.

Jean Segura, director of sales at Goss International comments, “The new M-600 Folia press unleashes significant productivity and economic advantages for the production of high-quality B1 sheets printed both sides simultaneously. Utilizing sheetfed inks and consumables and featuring M-600 printing units that accommodate multiple-weight paper stock, this new press system offers a wide range of advantages to the industrial sheetfed printer looking for quality and cost efficiency.”

Further details of this order will be released later in the year.
